

Detroit's Public Education System

About Excellent Schools Detroit

- Coalition of education, civic, community and philanthropic organizations founded in 2010.
- Shared Goal: an excellent education for every Detroit child, cradle to career, by 2020.
- “Excellent Education” is defined by 90/90/90/90 criteria.

DPS Central

250 schools
~150,000 students

Others

120 schools

1990

Detroit's Public Education System: 379 schools

DPS Central

244 schools
-135,000 students

Charters

51 schools
-16,000 students

Others

98 schools

2000

Detroit's Public Education System: 393 schools

DPS Central

93 schools
47,000 students

EAA Central

12 schools
6,600 students

Charters

DPS charter

14 schools
3,600 students

EAA charter

3 schools
900 students

EMU

7 schools
2,500 students

CMU

19 schools
8,400 students

Ferris

12 schools
4,400 students

Wayne RESA

6 schools
1,300 students

GVSU

24 schools
10,900 students

Northern MU

2 schools
700 students

Lake State

6 schools
3,700 students

Oakland

7 schools
4,300 students

SVSU

16 schools
6,300 students

Bay Mills

11 schools
6,500 students

Others

Suburban District

15 schools
5,100 students

Private Schools

21 schools
? students

 Schools opened since 2011

2015

268 Schools / 118,000 Students Living in Detroit

Detroit doesn't have one K-12 school system, it has 12.

What do we mean by “system”?

We refer to the 12 systems operated by: DPS, the EAA, and 10 additional charter school authorizers.

- Each system has its own way of deciding where and when to open or close a school, and who should run the school.
- Each system has its own way of deciding what level of family support to provide (window for enrollment, whether to provide transportation, etc).
- All of that is largely invisible.

It's like there are 12 drivers on a street and each is driving by their own rules. They wave to each other, but don't talk to each other, and certainly don't coordinate their actions. Each parks wherever they want, drives the speed they like, and most ignore pedestrians.

Symptoms of Detroit's school landscape:

1. We have way too many schools. Since nobody is in charge of the big picture, there is no way to effectively match need with supply.
2. One major system, DPS, has been unable to resolve its financial distress for 15+ years, destroying children and neighborhoods.
3. Because nobody is accountable for quality, bad actors profit from predatory behavior.
4. The EAA, even after over $70M in private investment, has been inconsistent and is barely surviving.
5. School quality is poor across the whole landscape.

K-8 Schools: Reading & Writing

DPS Central

EAA Central

Charters

DPS charter

EAA charter

EMU

CMU

Ferris

Wayne RESA

GVSU

Northern MU

Lake State

Oakland

SVSU

Bay Mills

Others

Suburban District

Private Schools

- Schools above average in 2-Year MEAP Reading & Writing
- Schools below average in 2-Year MEAP Reading & Writing
- Schools that do not have a score

MEAP Reading & Writing Scores

Note: These are two year averages of MEAP Reading & Writing (2012-13 and 2013-14)

K-8 Schools: Math

DPS Central

EAA Central

Charters

DPS charter

EAA charter

EMU

CMU

Ferris

Wayne RESA

GVSU

Northern MU

Lake State

Oakland

SVSU

Bay Mills

Others

Suburban District

Private Schools

- Schools above average in 2-Year MEAP Math
- Schools below average in 2-Year MEAP Math
- Schools that do not have a score

MEAP Math Scores

Note: These are two year averages of MEAP Math (2012-13 and 2013-14)

High Schools: ACT

DPS Central

EAA Central

Charters

DPS charter

Ferris

Lake State

EAA charter

Wayne RESA

Oakland

EMU

GVSU

SVSU

Others

Suburban District

Private Schools

Bay Mills

Northern MU

CMU

ACT Composite Scores

Note: This chart only show High Schools

DPS Central

EAA Central

Charters

Others

DPS charter

Ferris

Northern MU

Suburban District

EAA charter

Wayne RESA

Oakland

Private Schools

Bay Mills

GVSU

SVSU

CMU

EMU

Lake State

Schools in Top Half of Top-to-Bottom Ranking, 2013

Schools in Bottom Half of Top-to-Bottom Ranking, 2013

Not Ranked

Top-to-Bottom Ranking, 2013

A Possible Future

Coalition on Future of Detroit Schoolchildren

- ◆ Equitable and accessible PreK-12 school CHOICE system that works for Detroit families and schools.
- ◆ Coordinated, efficient management of school opening, intervention, and closure decisions based on QUALITY and neighborhood need.
- ◆ Stable, sustainable, improving system that attracts and supports talent to improve ACADEMIC OUTCOMES for children .
- ◆ LOCAL CONTROL of an education system aligned with Detroit's recovery.

CFDSC Major Recommendations

<http://choiceisoursdetroit.tumblr.com/report>

1. Create Detroit Education Commission
 - a. Makes school opening & closure & siting decisions
 - b. Transparent accountability criteria, applicable to all schools
 - c. DPS board & charter operators run their own schools

2. State Assumes DPS Debt

3. Return DPS Governance to a Locally-Elected Board

4. Simple universal systems to support school choice
 - a. Simplified enrollment system
 - b. Common transportation system

EXCELLENT
SCHOOLS

DETROIT